Town of Fairfax Fee Schedule

1. For Zoning Permits involving structures, where active construction has commenced but not been completed prior to the expiration of the Permit, the Permit may be extended for one year, if such an extension is requested in writing within the initial two year Permit period. For Permits without an extension granted within the initial two year period, or Permits whose one year extension has expired, a Renewal Permit may be issued for an Administrative Fee only of $100.00, unless the Permit Fee has also increased, in which case the applicant shall pay the increase amount for the permit as well.
2. New residential units, including Accessory Apartments, require a Certificate of Occupancy before they may be occupied. The cost for this is included in the Zoning Permit fee.
3. See the definition of these items in Article 9 of the Fairfax Development Regulations.
4. Contact the Zoning Office

Permits for Permitted or Conditional Uses in the Fairfax Development Regulations which do not appear on this list will be placed in the appropriate category on this list by the Zoning Administrator and charged the associated Zoning Permit fee.
